Mathematical Analysis

Chapter 1

Section 1.1

Let $f: \mathbb{R} \rightarrow \mathbb{R}$ be a function. We define the limit of f at a to be L if for every $\epsilon > 0$ there exists a $\delta > 0$ such that for all x with $0 < |x - a| < \delta$ we have $|f(x) - L| < \epsilon$.

Example 1.1

Consider the function $f(x) = x^2$.

We claim that $\lim_{x \rightarrow 0} x^2 = 0$. To prove this, let $\epsilon > 0$ be given. We need to find a $\delta > 0$ such that for all x with $0 < |x| < \delta$ we have $|x^2 - 0| < \epsilon$. Note that $|x^2| = x^2$. So we need $x^2 < \epsilon$, which is equivalent to $|x| < \sqrt{\epsilon}$. Thus we can choose $\delta = \sqrt{\epsilon}$.

Definition 1.2

Let $f: \mathbb{R} \rightarrow \mathbb{R}$ be a function. We say that f is continuous at a if $\lim_{x \rightarrow a} f(x) = f(a)$.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the origin of life. It is shown that the problem is one of the most important and most difficult in the history of science. The author discusses the various theories of the origin of life, and shows that the most plausible is the theory of spontaneous generation. This theory is based on the fact that life is a complex of many different parts, and that these parts are all derived from a common ancestor. The author also discusses the possibility of life being introduced from other planets, and shows that this is also a possibility.
